ANSWERS

1. What parallels are there between the original Passover and the Lord's Supper?

The Passover involved having blood on the doorpost for forgiveness, and the lamb was eaten by each family member for healing. The Lord's Supper has a cup representing the blood of Jesus for forgiveness and bread representing the body of Christ, which, when discerned properly, brings healing.

2. What insight does Psalm 105:36–37 give about the Israelites who followed the Passover instructions?

The Israelites who obeyed left Egypt with silver and gold, and not one among them was sick.

3. According to 1 Corinthians 11:29, why are many who partake of the Lord's Supper sick and dying prematurely?

People were taking the Lord's Supper in an unworthy manner and not discerning the Lord's body.

4. In the Lord's Supper, what is the significance of the cup?

The cup represents the blood of Jesus and the benefits of His shed blood, such as forgiveness. There is power in remembering what Jesus did on the cross and mixing that with faith.

5. In the Lord's Supper, what is the significance of the bread?

The bread represents the body of Christ. Christ is the head, and we are the members of that body. When we remember and honor the body, including all of its members, eating the bread will cause healing, strength, and long life to spring forth.

6. How is Saul used as an example of discerning/not discerning the body of Christ?

When Saul didn't discern the body of Christ, he persecuted Christians. He was confronted by Jesus, who asked why he (Saul) was persecuting Him (Acts 9: 4–5).

Then, he correctly discerned that Jesus uses His body—the church—to implement His will. And he received healing through Ananias, who laid hands on him (Acts 9:9–11).

7. How does the healing of the Canaanite woman's daughter relate to communion (Matt. 15:22–28)?

Jesus said that it wasn't proper to take the children's bread and give it to dogs. Jesus called healing "the children's bread." Even though she was a Gentile without a covenant with God, she reminded Jesus that dogs eat crumbs. Her faith impressed Jesus. When we have communion, we aren't coming to get a crumb, we're partaking of the bread, and healing is in the bread.

8. What lesson should we learn from what Jesus said to the righteous at the final judgement (Matt. 25:40)?

We should remember that how we treat people is how we treat the Lord.
